TALK OF THE TOWN

Macabees, attention! A practice meeting will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. "From the Beyond," a three-reel Eclair drama; also a good comedy at the Bijou to-day.

There will be a meeting of the Queen of the Forest circle this evening at 7:30. Let every member be present.

James Parker, jr., of Montreal arrived in the city to-day, to pass a few days with relatives on Averill street.

Miss Sadie Fifield, who has been confined to her home on Richardson street by illness for the past few weeks, was able to resume her duties at the Vaughan store this week.

Employees of the city water department redoubled their efforts to-day to prepare a good skating rink on the Granite City trotting park at the south end.

John Wharton, superintendent of the People's Lighting, Heating & Power Co., returned to-day from Binghamton, N. Y., where he has been spending the past few days on business interests. While absent he also visited at Rutland.

David Cummings of 31 Farwell street received his birds to-day which were at the Montpelier poultry show. His two pigeons, named Presta, won first and second prizes and his two Ballhead Tumblers won first and second, while his duck carried off first prize. It was an Indian Runner. Mr. Forsell of Montpelier won fourth prize for Prest pigeon, it being of Mr. Cummings' stock.

George Durst, who has been a resident of Barre for some few months, left last night for Savannah, Ga., where he will remain indefinitely. Since coming to Barre Mr. Durst has followed his occupation as a granite cutter. For the past three weeks he has been an inmate of the City hospital, suffering with an attack of typhoid fever.

The committee of arrangements of the Barre and the Montpelier Councils of the Knights of Columbus are making plans for a series of pool and card tournaments to be held during the remainder of the winter. It is the intention of the sponsors of the movement to hold a contest every four nights, in alternating cities. The first tournament will be held within three weeks.

Mrs. Lorinda Mower yesterday passed her 92d birthday anniversary at the home of her niece, Mrs. Lyman Taft of Mount street, with whom she is spending the winter. Her health has been rapidly failing for the past two weeks, being able to sit up but little in that time. Yesterday a few of her nearest relatives called to see her, also Rev. J. B. Beaudin. Mrs. Mower was generously remembered with flowers, fruit and post cards.

Every incoming train and transporting vehicle plying between Montpelier and Barre was taxed to its capacity to-day with poultry. The large number of local fanciers, who had exhibits on display at the Montpelier show, which was brought to a close yesterday, devoted the greater part of the day to guarding their careful delivery. Many of the exhibitors who have coveted birds went to Montpelier in person to-day personally to superintend the restitution of the poultry.

Probably the biggest basketball game of the season in this section of the state will be played this evening at the Church street gymnasium. The E. C. A. team of St. Johnsbury arrived in the city this afternoon with a following that numbered close to 50. The line-up will contain the following players: E. Gagner, center; Demers, Gagner, forwards; La-Croix and Bedard, guards. The Shamrock team will present the following lineup: Carroll, center; Stuart and Bartlett, guards; Ogerton and Berry, forwards. The St. Johnsbury team feels confident of winning and will fight to the very end to attain the verdict.

A Promised Realization.

Daily the signs increase and multiply that Vermont is awakening to a fuller realization of her needs to the end that a greater Vermont may become a fact and not remain a theory. In these present days comes the news that Middlebury has a new board of trade with its leading citizens in its membership and as officers of the organization. The slogan of the new board of trade is "A better place to live and a better place for more people to live in." To the Landmark this pertinent and original slogan seems admirably suited for state-wide adoption. In the past decade Addison was one of the counties of the state that showed a decline in population, but the prediction is here made that this county, which has Middlebury for its shire town, will show a gain and not a falling off in population in the next national census, and especially so if John M. Thomas, president of Middlebury college, continues also as president of the new board of trade, and Judge John E. Weeks as its secretary.

From Middlebury also comes the news that the Addison county agriculture society and Middlebury college had united to the end of holding a winter show the last of February at the Morgan horse stock farm in Weybridge. This decision means, in a way, the keeping of things all the while on the move, and such doings are calculated to help Addison county and whatever helps that county helps Vermont.

From Waterbury comes the news that there was held in that town the past week a home economics institute in the arrangements for which and in its proceedings the entire population, as it were, zealously entered. At the institute there were lectures and demonstrations in domestic economy, with prizes offered for the best muffins made by high school girls. One of the lecturers with accompanying demonstrations was on "How to Make Shirt Waists," and still another was on "How to Make a Skirt." During the progress of the institute all the Waterbury pupils were excused from classes to attend the sessions of the institute.

Such proceedings as above enumerated, must, from their very nature, result in the good of Vermont, and for this reason The Landmark urges that they be frequent and state wide.—White River Junction Landmark.

To Wear Mourning to Help Suffrage.

Miss Eva Ward, an English suffragist now speaking in this country, proposes that if women do not get the ballot by 1915, all who are displeased thereby shall go into mourning, and remain thus attired until the elective franchise is finally granted. This, it is incidentally argued, would greatly lessen woman's dependence on the dressmaker and the milliner. Everything would "match." The saving would be very great, and
